The Buzbee Law Firm tries big cases. The firm's managing partner, Tony Buzbee, is as nontraditional as the seven-lawyer firm that bears his name. Buzbee offices in Galveston, a place generally associated with fun and relaxation – not litigation – and he has a creative approach to more than just his office location.

Perhaps because of his USMC special forces training, Buzbee thinks outside the box, and his results prove the value of this mindset – he has recovered more than $250 million for his individual and corporate clients in less than five years. Recently, Tony Buzbee was named one of the top five commercial litigators in Texas by Texas Lawyer Magazine.

He routinely is recognized as the best in Texas. "We've worked to keep our firm lean. The larger firms tend to be slow and methodical, with too many lawyers who have never actually tried a case and who give no thought to the goal of the case, or to efficiency, cost or timeliness," Buzbee says.

Instead of putting 10 lawyers on a case and running down every rabbit trail, Buzbee handles the case himself with help from one or two lawyers. This also allows Buzbee to ensure the client's goal is met, whether it is a quick resolution, money, a knock-down-drag-out trial or even delay.

Specialty: Commercial litigation

Education: Texas A&M University, B.S.; University of Houston, J.D. (summa cum laude)
